FWUA President Speaks

Farmers Union Plans Membership Drive

An FUA Sub-district 5 of District 12 committee meeting was held in the Legion Hall at Vulcan Oct. 7, with presidents, secretaries, directors and canvassers of the various district locals present.

Mrs. C. T. Armstrong, provincial FWUA president, was in attendance to assist and direct in making preliminary arrangements for the membership drive to be held during National Farm Week.

She urged those present to work together to accomplish all possible for the farmers through the FUA. The FUA had a good record of achievement, she said, but if a larger percentage of the farmers were members the briefs presented from time to time on behalf of the farmers would carry even more weight with the government.

George Loree, District 12 FUA Director, and Mrs. F. House, District 12 FUA Director, spoke briefly.

Lee Richardson, Sub-director, was chairman of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Annabel Parslow, Sub-district secretary.

PERENNIAL SOW THISTLE — A SERIOUS MENACE:

Perhaps more than any other weed, sow thistle appears to be making a strong effort to spread itself widely in Alberta this year. Although it appears solid in a few fields, in most cases the infestation is in scattered patches. The supervisor of Soils and Weed Control, W. Lobay reports a tour through the High River area showed definite increase in sow thistle, but generally, the weeds were still in the patchy stage.

Much Sow Thistle is in bloom now and will soon be going to seed. At this stage it can be effectively LINDA EATON, 17, has to stretch to add a final volume to the imposing stack of specifications and blueprints necessary to Imperial Oil's $17 million expansion program at the Calgary refinery. Weight: about three-quarters of a ton — the paper, not Linda. This is typical of the advance work that goes into a project as complex as the expansion, largest single construction job in the history of Calgary. The new units will increase the refinery's capacity to 14,700 barrels per day.

Capacity Greatly Increased

Install New Power Transformers

Businesses dependent upon electric power came to a standstill for two hours on Tuesday afternoon of this week as the power was off to allow the installation of new transformers at Calgary Power's Vulcan sub-station.

The demand for electric power has been steadily increasing as the town grows and had reached the point where it was necessary to install larger transformers. The three 150 k.v.a. transformers which formerly served the town have now been replaced with three 250 k.v.a. transformers, jumping the sub-station capacity from 450 k.v.a. to 750 k.v.a. The new transformers are large enough to meet the electric power demands of the town for several years to come, the Advocate was told by Don Buehler, local manager for Calgary Power.

cut down to prevent seeding. Where the thistle is still budding, patches in grain can be sprayed with 2-4-D solution using a knapsack sprayer to prevent seed formation.

After harvest if land is to be summerfallowed, tillage practices to destroy top growth should begin immediately and continue throughout next summer. It is important that tillage operation be performed just prior to freeze-up as it is at this time that generally considerable damage is done to Perennial Sow Thistle. On very light textured soil where frequent cultivation is not advisable, the initial work in fallow could be left until the thistle is in bud. 2-4-D at about 1 pound per acre applied two weeks before tilling would hasten eradication. Thorough tillage at freeze-up should be continued as necessary.

If patchy infested land is not intended to be fallowed, cultivation as described above should be done this fall. Farmers must, however, be prepared to spray the crop next year otherwise this weed will soon take over.

On non-crop land, esters of 2-4-D is repeated dosages of about one pound per acre will do much to control, if not completely eradicate the thistle.

October is the best month for beating September records.

THE WEATHER

Fine, warm weather has prevailed this week, with south-west winds bringing temperatures in the high 60's.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

By H. S. Burns

This week we are passing on a paper prepared by Wm. Lobay and A. W. Goettel of Soils and Weed Control, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. This deals with fall cultivation and seems particularly appropriate at this time, when there are only a few short weeks left to do something about the weed problem for 1959.

"Early completion of this year's harvest provides an excellent opportunity for fall tillage. There are a number of advantages of cultivating both the stubble and fallow fields in the fall. Fall cultivation will cover weed seeds to induce early spring germination, with proper ridging will protect the soil surface from winter soil drifting and spring runoff. It may also increase the yield of next year's crop.

Weed seeds such as wild oats, stink weed, mustard, thistles, etc., can be induced to germinate early in the spring and then killed before seeding. Late cultivations are the very important ones in the control of perennials. These operations should be continued up to freeze up when the kill on couch grass, thistles, toadflax, Leafy Spurge and other perennial weeds is best. In the case of wild out seeds these should be allowed to "dry out" for about three weeks before they are covered in the fall. A combination of early maturity of the wild oats and a dry fall this year has allowed this to take place and cultivation can proceed at any time.

We must use implements which will cover weed seeds enabling them to germinate and to leave the land in such a condition that wind and water erosion losses are minimized. Such implements as one way, diskers and blade cultivators will do this job best. These implements will leave most of the stubble on the surface. A narrow shovelled cultivator used where straw cover is light will leave a portion of the stubble standing upright and will check the movement of soil and snow. On fallow lands especially subject to erosion, slopes should be ridged along the contour to prevent excessive run-off in the spring. Ridging or listering at right angles to prevailing winds will help to reduce early winter soil drifting.

In the "spring versus" fall tillage trials at Lacombe, the fall tillage treatments average 10 percent greater barley yield than spring tillage. Although this is based on one year's results only, it may be an indication of the advantage of fall cultivations. Certainly weed control, prevention of erosion and moisture conservation should give increased yields.

Farmers are advised to start preparing their seed bed in the fall. This is an excellent fall to "hit back" at the unwanted weeds."

Rat Race on Freight Rates

It seems quite natural that the railways should ask for higher rates when their operating employees have been awarded higher wages. The consumer will be called upon to shoulder the load.

The situation is confused by charges by labor that railway management is padding executive positions and the fat salaries of these executives while at the same time bawling the increase awarded to the employees who do the actual work. There are undoubtedly arguments on both sides. The railways would like to have the Crows Nest Pass freight rates agreement on grain shipments declared void. The farmers of Western Canada are clinging to this one and only safeguard remaining to them, for Western Canada agriculture could not withstand a two way freight hike at the present time without requiring more deficiency payments than Diefenbaker has already provided for.

We usually try to keep an open mind on public questions, but when it comes to the problem of freight rates in Canada there is little substance to maintain an open mind. How the railways can haul freight from Toronto and Montreal to Vancouver at less cost than to Calgary and Edmonton is something no sane economist will swallow without question, then a few years back we learned that most freight in Eastern Canada is hauled at even lower rates than those provided for the western wheat grower by the Crows Nest Pass Agreement. The idea seems to be to take all the traffic will stand, while there is no alternative left to the consumer.

Selling at "Wholesale"

Recently we received from some unknown Toronto firm a catalogue of jewelry items which we were invited to buy below wholesale prices. Suggested retail prices were given for comparison purposes.

The Times is not a jewelry firm and we have no intention to set up in opposition to Wetaskiwin's already established reputable jewelry stores. Why were we chosen to receive one of these catalogues? It is quite apparent that the mailing list is aimed at avoiding jewelers who know values in their own retail lines.

Dealing with every type of merchant every day does give us some knowledge of values in a wide variety of merchandise and a brief study of the catalogue revealing some startling facts. A portable sewing machine, for example was listed at retail values of $189.50 to be sold wholesale at $64.50. A check with an Edmonton retail store which handles the line revealed that a standard model fitting the description (no model number is given in the catalogue) retailed for $49.50.

A check with local jewelers also indicates that much of the merchandise listed can be purchased right here in Wetaskiwin for LESS than the wholesale price quoted in the catalogue. Any one of our local merchants can recount sad tales of people who buy sight unseen and then bring the merchandise in for appraisal or repairs.

The wise thing to do, of course, is to make some discreet inquiries about values, trade marks and reputation of manufacturers before risking money on so-called bargains or wholesale prices.

Let's face facts—we all need the local merchants, their goods and their service. The legitimate manufacturer needs him to display and distribute his wares to the consumer. The consumer needs him as a judge of quality in business we know nothing about and a source of adjustment when merchandise is poorly made or defective.

If you don't know the merchandise at least know the merchant who sells it.

Letters to the Editor

To Editor of The Vulcan Advocate, Dear Editor,

Could I please put a letter in your good paper to the people in the County?

Dear Friends,
With our Farm Union year drawing to a close it is now time for us to be renewing our memberships. I am sure everyone in the County of Vulcan is concerned with the problems of Agriculture.

With the rapid decline of population of the people on the farm, it is more important than ever that each man, woman and young person (between 14 and 21) take out membership in his own organization if he (or she) is deriving his living directly or indirectly from the farm. Besides taking out membership it is also necessary to become an informed member which can be done by taking an active part in local meetings, reading "The Organized Farmer," attending conventions, rallies, etc.

On Tuesday, Oct. 21, there is to be an FWUA rally in the basement of the Milo United Church. This meeting begins at 10 a.m. with local reports.

The Milo ladies are catering to the noon luncheon. Mr. Miller from the Canadian Mental Health Association is showing slides and giving a talk on this important work. The tea money will go to CMHA.

Another "Highlight" of the day will be by Miss Amelia Randle, Home Economist from Calgary on "World Health Organization."

This rally is open to women of all walks of life and regardless of which organization you may be a member of, I hope you will keep Oct. 21 open, so you may join with us in Milo.

Yours Very sincerely,
Margaret E. House
(FWUA Director, Dist. 12)

One "hobo tea" was held at Beth Little's the previous week and one evening was spent making stuffed animals at Margaret Dow's. Twenty-nine of these were completed and sent to needy children. Second-hand pocket edition books were mailed to soldiers overseas by Ruth Ohlweiler.

The regent, Margaret Dow had written a history of the Lael Chapter to be sent into Calgary. This chapter was started 23 years ago.

The next meeting will be held at Daisy Keenan's home. Doris Shearer was the winner of the raffle.

After adjournment, Jean Fath and Helen Moses served a delicious lunch.

Home and School Association

The Champion Home and School Association held its first meeting of the 1958-59 year on Monday, Oct. 6, with a very good attendance. Mrs. Edith Nowlin acted as chairman in absence of John Worthington, who was ill and Mrs. Gladys Davey as secretary, in place of Mrs. Doreen Smith who is in Calgary.

The election of officers took place after the group voted on carrying on with Home and School for the year. Officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Shirley Griffin; secretary, Mrs. J. O. Hoel; treasurer, Bud Schneider; vice-president, John Worthington; program convener, Mrs. Wilma Flitton; membership convener, Mrs. Bob Burton; publicity convener, Mrs. Lois Schultz; and lunch convener, Mrs. Edith Nowlin.

The treasurer's report was read which showed a balance of $61 in the bank.

Mrs. Lorna Frey of High River, third vice-president of the Alberta Federation was the guest speaker. She gave a very interesting and informative talk on "The aims and benefits of belonging to the great organization, The Home and School." It is the duty of every parent to be interested in the welfare of their children in the school, home and community. The teacher, school and child are natural links to the background of education. The Home and School Organization consists of three parts: 1-Program; 2-Parent Education; 3-School Education.

The Home and School has a definite part in the making of the three school committee in education. The Home and School is the only organization to promote and present resolutions to the Government on Child Welfare.

The history and statistics were given and 300,000 members belong to Home and School Associations across Canada.

The new officers were installed by Mrs. Frey, who was given a hearty vote of thanks. Mrs. Agnes Kuziw was in charge of entertainment. The teachers and parents of each grade were gathered into panel discussions to decide what they wanted in the Home and School, including programs of interest, etc., and a study program for "Parent Education."

At the close of the meeting, sandwiches, do-nuts, punch and coffee were served by Betty Petronech, Agnes Kuziw, Gladys Davey and Edith Nowlin.

Let's keep up a good attendance.

THE NUISANCE JOB

As soon as possible a child should be taught to wash his own face and hands. He'll probably regard it as a nuisance but he should be trained to understand the hands must always be washed before food is handled. So that he may be able to reach the wash-bowl, he should have a small sturdy stool on which to stand. Care must be taken to teach him not to turn on the hot water tap if there is danger of his being scalded.

SIX-MILES OF TULIP BULBS — If all the Tulip Bulbs, Dutch Tulip Queen, Miss "Lani" Quant, will present on her North American Tour were laid end-to-end, they would stretch for a solid six miles. Here "Lani" helps grade 1 pupils plant tulips in front of the D. Roy Kennedy school in Ottawa. The tulips were a gift of the Dutch Bulb Growers, to the children of Canada. Tulips have become very popular for school landscaping, because they bloom while the children are in school. During her Canadian educational and goodwill tour, Miss Quant presented thousands of choice tulips to school children, blind institutions, crippled children and as well to help beautify many civic gardens.

CARMANGAY

T.V. Well Under Control

In the recent Home and School TV survey at Carmangay, 81% of the parents considered TV more of an aid than a hindrance to education. "I Search for Adventure" was most frequently mentioned as a program that helps children educationally, being closely followed by "Walt Disney Travelogues" and "Front Page Challenge." Other favorites were "Georgias Program" science programs, "news," good music, dramatization of history and children's books, spelling contests. "This is the Life."

On week-days the average time the average TV was reported to be turned on was close to five hours, with adults watching three-and-a-half hours on the average, the older pre-school age two-and-a-quarter hours, public school pupils two hours, but high school pupils only one hour. Few mothers hesitated to turn TV off if company arrived as they wished to visit. The majority also turned TV off for meals, although most reported that they occasionally ate and watched. Very few fitted the supper hour to the programs.

Only 47% of the parents let the children watch any program. Most frequently objected to were western, crime, murders, heavy drama, psychological plays, too exciting mysteries, horror plays and late programs. Eighty-one per cent said that when homework and television programs clashed, homework came first. Only 25% considered TV a health menace, mostly because of eye strain.

Some hints that TV owners would give those who have yet to learn to live with TV are: "If there are school children buy the TV during the summer holidays and let the children watch it steadily, the novelty will soon wear off;" "Use common sense and rule it, don't let it rule you."

Also on Friday the annual school pictures were taken in color.

At a special school student's meeting it was decided that a school paper will be published at Christmas, Easter and sometime in May. Candidates were elected this year for Queen Contest and are Carol McGinnis, Leona Lazo and Janette Anderson. We would like to wish them all the best of luck.

Like all '59 Chevies, the Impala Sport Sedan is roomier, smoother riding.

what Canada wants, Canada gets in a Chevy!

'59 CHEVROLET

It's shaped to the modern Canadian taste with a lean, clean silhouette, crisp new contours, beautifully restrained accents. It brings you more spaciousness and comfort with a new Body by Fisher. It has a bright new sheen — a new kind of finish that keeps its lustre without waxing for up to three years. New bigger brakes. Vast new areas of visibility. New Hi-Thrift 6. New handling ease and road steadiness. It's new right down to the tires!

Never before has an automobile manufacturer made such sweeping changes two years in a row. And never before has any car been new like this one. The 1959 Chevrolet is more than a restyled car — more, even, than a completely new car. It's your kind of car. Shaped to reward your new taste in style. Designed to anticipate your desire for greater roominess and comfort. Engineered for greater safety, economy, ease of handling and smoothness of ride.

Your first look shows you that Chevrolet says new like nobody else. New Slimline design brings entirely new poise and proportion to automobile styling. Inside the new and roomier Body by Fisher you'll find truly tasteful elegance. And you'll have clear seeing from every seat. The new Vista-Panoramic windshield curves overhead — and there are bigger windows all around.

When you take the wheel, you begin to find that Chevy's newness goes down deep. A new steering ratio makes handling easier. New suspension engineering gives you a more stable ride. There's a sweet new edition of Turbo-glide.* Eight V8's plus a new Hi-Thrift 6 that goes and goes on a gallon. New and bigger brakes. Even new tires!

There's still more! A new Magic-Mirror finish that keeps its shine without waxing or polishing for up to three years. New Impala models. Wonderful new station wagons — including one with a rear-facing rear seat. And, with all that's new, you find those fine Chevrolet virtues of economy and practicality. Stop in now and see the '59 Chevrolet.

CNR Starts Work on New Western Freight Yard

To speed the flow of East-West freight traffic, the Canadian National Railways has started work on a new, giant freight yard in St. Boniface. Turning the first sod for the $24,000,000 project is the Hon. H. J. Symington, after whom the yard has been named, while Donald Gordon, CNR president, applauds. Above, is a general scene of the ceremony that launched the work on September 30. The new Symington Yard will be a self-contained operating unit, ready for operation by 1962. It will cover 628 acres and will be capable of handling 7,000 freight cars a day. Technically known as a hump, retarder classification yard, freight cars will be pushed over the hump and directed to any one of a huge fan of 62 classification tracks with push-button ease by a control tower conductor. In all, there will be 156 tracks for all purposes, totalling 102 track miles.

MAJORVILLE

The first taste of winter roared in on Wednesday afternoon when the weather changed in a matter of minutes from ideal fall weather to winter. A high wind preceded the storm blowing the leaves off the trees and followed by snow and cold that toppled the temperature about 25 degrees in a short time. This has been a fall for the records; with warm days, harvest has been finished early and it is seldom that farm groves have been so beautiful. Usually the leaves are gone before the full color has developed but even the men folk have remarked on the beauty of the trees this year. However that is all tucked away in memory and note book. Garden flowers were still giving pleasure to all who cared to notice. Mrs. Alf Heather, had a white chrysanthemum in full bloom; as a rule this flower just reaches the budding stage on the prairie and after Easter Mrs. Bartsch put her lily in the garden and was ready to bloom again, so despite drought in summer, mother nature came through with a lot to be thankful for.

Congratulations and good wishes are sent to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Beagle (nee Frances Winch) of Arrowwood on the birth of a son Dale Melvin, in Vulcan Hospital.

Mrs. Laura Sutherland and her daughter, Mrs. Bill Beckner, left during the week to spend a vacation in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clements and family and Dorothy Clements of Calgary were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hap Heather.

The FWUA district conference will be held in the basement of the Milo United Church on Oct. 21. Among the features of the conference will be a film and talk on mental health in the afternoon.

Among those who went to Calgary to attend the Scottish concert were Mrs. Bartsch, Colin Campbell and David Warnoch.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Clarke of Calgary were in the district on Monday seeing to affairs of their farm and visiting friends. They recently returned from a trip to the British Isles returning by car via points in the USA from Montreal to Calgary. They report a wonderful trip.

The annual Lions Club turkey shoot drew a record crowd to Liberty Community Hall last Sunday when turkeys and hams were won by any way your skill or luck decided. The weather man co-operated with a lovely day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Winch, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Greaves and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vooyes were recent visitors to Brooks.

Wendy Hunter has been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Prentice while her mother is in Vulcan Hospital with a new baby.

John Bartsch was a visitor at Red Deer for a few days early in the week. Junior Bertschy and Bill Francis went to Carmangay to attend a Masonic banquet.

Milo-Queenstown W.M.F.

Ten members of the Milo-Queenstown W.M.F. went to Lomond for the October meeting which was held at the parsonage. During the business session it was voted to have the treasurer pay the local share of the taxes on the parsonage as soon as the amount was known. Plans for the annual bazaar were also discussed and the tea and bazaar is expected to be held on Nov. 15, in the basement of the IOOF Hall in Milo.

At the election of officers, the following were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Jack Deitz; vice-president, Mrs. Chester Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Bob Deitz, and treasurer, Mrs. Mel. Schaub.

Mrs. George Heather moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Thompson for her wonderful work as president during the past four years. She would have been elected again but asked to be relieved of the office. Pastor Foster conducted the devotional.

The hostess assisted by other members served a delightful lunch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Schaub in Milo.

With The District Agriculturist

Early completion of this year's harvest provides an excellent opportunity for fall tillage. There are a number of advantages of cultivating both the stubble and fallow fields in the fall.

Fall cultivation will:

(a) Cover weed seeds to induce early spring germination.
(b) With proper ridging, protect the soil surface from winter soil drifting and spring run-off. It may also increase the yield of next year's crop.

Weed seeds such as wild oats, stinkweed, mustard, thistles, etc., can be induced to germinate early in the spring and then killed before seeding. Late cultivations are the very important ones in the control of perennials. These operations should be continued up to freeze-up when the kill on couch grass, thistles, toadflax, leafy spurge and other perennial weeds is best. In the case of wild oat seed these should be allowed to "dry-out" for about three weeks before they are covered in the fall. A combination of early maturity of the wild oats and a dry fall this year has allowed this to take place and cultivation can proceed at any time.

We must use implements which will cover weed seeds enabling them to germinate and to leave the land in such a condition that wind and water erosion losses are minimized. Blade type implements will do this job best. These implements will leave most of the stubble on the surface. A narrow shovelled cultivator used where straw cover is light will leave a portion of the stubble standing upright and will check the movement of soil and snow.

On fallow lands especially subject to erosion, slopes should be ridged along the contour to prevent excessive run-off in the spring. Ridging or listering at right angles to prevailing winds will help reduce early winter soil drifting.

Co-Ral
LIVESTOCK INSECTICIDE

THE AMAZING DISCOVERY THAT KILLS CATTLE GRUBS SIMPLY BY SPRAYING!

One or two spray treatments a year with Co-Ral kills cattle grubs inside the animal before they can damage meat or hide. Recommended for cattle grubs, screw-worms, hornflies, lice and ticks on beef cattle, sheep, swine, goats and horses. See us soon for the complete story on Co-Ral, the first spray insecticide that controls all important livestock insect pests.

*Trademark. Registered as Buyer 21/199

TROLENE

Stops cattle grub damage BEFORE IT STARTS
—Tested and Approved for Canadian Use—

Should be administered as soon as possible and not later than Nov. 30. Early treatment prevents grubs from maturing, results in maximum feed savings and weight gains.

Troline circulates through the tissue system, killing the young grub larvae before they reach the adult stage.

With Troline, you can treat a herd in a hurry. No dusting, no wetting sprays, no special high pressure spraying equipment—just a balling gun. No guess work involved, give one bolus per 300 lbs. weight. Treat after the heel fly season and watch cattle start to grow away from the untreated animals. The ear-tags provided with Troline ensure buyer preference for your treated cattle.
